

CORNELL INTERNATIONAL INSTITUTE FOR FOOD, AGRICULTURE AND DEVELOPMENT

Knowledge Sharing Strategies Group

Tuesday February 17, 2009

12:20–1:10 p.m.

102 Mann Library

Refreshments provided.

John Bakum and Sarah Davidson

Rustopedia

Challenges of Developing a Global Agricultural Knowledge-Sharing Community

The Rustopedia is an online knowledge base that fosters collaboration within the global wheat rust community. Bakum and Davidson will talk about the challenges in defining the needs of the wheat rust community, choosing the best technological solutions, and engaging the users of the Rustopedia. John Bakum is the web administrator for the Durable Rust Resistance in Wheat project at Cornell. Sarah Davidson is the research analyst for the wheat rust project.

This seminar follows the first meeting of the Knowledge Sharing Strategies Group at 11:30–12:00 in Mann 102. The group, a collaboration of CIIFAD and Mann Library, is open to anyone interested in applying traditional, new, and emerging strategies to enhance knowledge-sharing in an international development context. For more information contact jat264@cornell.edu.

Cosponsored by the Cornell International Institute for Food, Agriculture and Development, International Programs/CALS, and Mann Library

The Cornell International Institute for Food, Agriculture and Development (CIIFAD) promotes sustainable agricultural and rural development in Asia, Africa and Latin America through knowledge generation, human resource development and institutional strengthening. CIIFAD is administered by the Office of the Vice Provost for International Relations.

<http://ciifad.cornell.edu>